The University of California Students Association Presents
Student of Color Conference 2019 (SOCC 2k19)
Host Application

Dear Applicant,

We are excited to announce a newly renovated and rejuvenated Students of Color Conference, Summit, for the 2018-2019 school year. This year's conference is an awesome opportunity for students to rethink, reexamine, and redevelop the Student of Color to fulfill the grandest desires of our students. We believe that this year's Leadership Summit will provide the greatest opportunity for students of color throughout the UC to collectively shape the largest conference-serving students of color in the state of California.

As we near the 30th anniversary of the Student of Color, this is an opportune time to engage our leadership base with a clear objective to listen, learn, and serve. Therefore, the 2019 Student of Color Conference is themed "SOCC Re-envisioning Summit." We hope for this year's conference to represent UCSA's core ideals of ensuring we have access, equity, and quality in all aspects of our educational experience. In order to accommodate such a vast vision, we are hopeful to collaborate with a meaningful host campus to ensure the success of the conference. Below, campuses interested in hosting this years Students of Color Conference will find details on submitting an application to host. Best of luck on your application!

About the Student of Color Conference

The purpose of the Students of Color Conference is to provide safe space for students of color to educate each other and strategize around statewide and campus-based actions.
